CONSTITUTION AND BY-LAWS OF THE SOCIETY OF COLONIAL WARS IN THE STATE OF
NEW YORK

AS AMENDED TO AUGUST, 1916

CONSTITUTION

PREAMBLE

Whereas, There has never been just and proper celebrations commemorative of the martial events of colonial history happening from the settlement of Jamestown, Virginia, May 13, 1607, to the battle of Lexington, April 19, 1775;

And whereas, Our brave and dauntless forefathers crossed an unknown ocean to establish homes on the virgin soil of a new continent where all men could freely worship according to the dictates of their consciences and secure immunity from religious persecution. And thereafter they and their descendants imperiled their lives and jeopardized their families and possessions in hostilities with the savage Indian in the founding of the Colonies of America, and sprang when needed to aid their mother country with loyal patriotism when in warfare with another nation. These glorious sires produced our heroic ancestors of the Revolution, who withstood the encroachments of a parent country, and accomplished the independence of the United States, and adopted those imperishable declarations of American brotherhood and inalienable rights which are to-day the pride and glory of the untrammelled freedom of the whole world;

Therefore, The Society of Colonial Wars has been instituted by the descendants of these illustrious forefathers, to perpetuate the names, memory or deeds of those brave and courageous men, who, in military, naval or civil service, by their acts or counsel assisted in the establishment and continuance of the American Colonies; to collect and secure for preservation the manuscripts, rolls, records and other documents relating to that period; to inspire among the members and their descendants the fraternal and patriotic spirit of their forefathers, and to inculcate in the community respect and reverence for the acts and principles of those indomitable men, which made the freedom and unity of our country a possibility.

INCEPTION OF THE SOCIETY

On July 10th, 1892, there met at the office of Col. T. Waln-Morgan Draper, No. 45 Broadway, New York, Col. Draper, S. Victor Constant, Esq., and Edward Trenchard, Esq., and at that time the organization of a "Society of Colonial Wars" was first considered. Two more preliminary meetings were held at the office of Mr. Constant, No. 120 Broadway, and on August 18th, 1892, the Society was instituted there. The certificate of incorporation was then presented, bearing the names of ten founders: Messrs. Charles H. Murray, T. Waln-Morgan Draper, Frederick E. Haight, and Samuel Victor Constant of New York, Nathan G. Pond, Satterlee Swartwout, and George M. Gunn of Connecticut, Edward C. Miller and Charles E. Miller of New Jersey, and Howard R. Bayne of Virginia. These gentlemen, with the exception of Edward C. Miller, Esq., were made the members of the board of governors, and the following temporary officers were elected, to serve until the First General Court: Hon. Charles H. Murray, Chairman, Col. T. Waln-Morgan Draper, Secretary, S. Victor Constant, Esq., Treasurer, and Frederick E. Haight, Esq., Historian.

No more meetings were held until October 18th, 1892, when the board met at the office of Mr. Murray, 115 Broadway, New York. On November 10th, in the same place, the Committee on Membership, consisting of Mr. Haight, Chairman, Col. Draper, Secretary, and Mr. Murray, reported that the application papers of twenty-seven candidates had been passed upon. Thereupon these gentlemen were elected to the Society as the first members.

It was at this time that the undress insignia was adopted, a small bow knot of British scarlet, to be worn in the left lapel of the coat. Thirty-five of these decorations were made by Mrs. T. Waln-Morgan Draper of ribbon one-eighth of an inch wide in a one-inch bow, and worn until the present rosette and insignia were adopted. The colors of the Society were later changed to scarlet and white, more closely following the Colonial uniform.

INCEPTION OF THE SOCIETY

At the next three meetings, held in Mr. Murray's office, the Constitution and By-Laws were adopted and thirty-eight more members were elected.

The First General Court was held at Delmonico's old restaurant, 26th Street and 5th Avenue, on December 19th, 1892, the anniversary of the Great Swamp Fight of 1675, a date still observed for this assembly. Forty members voted for the first officers of the Society. The first Governor was Frederic J. de Peyster, Esq.; the Secretary, Howland Pell, Esq.

The Council had no fixed meeting-place for some years. The offices of Mr. Murray, Arthur M. Hatch, Esq., T. J. Oakley Rhinelanders, Esq., Ludlow Ogden, Esq., George R. Schieffelin, Esq., and others were often used, and frequently meetings were held in the evening at the residences of the officers. Mr. de Peyster, Mr. Pell, David Banks, Jr., Esq., James William Beekman, Esq., De Forest Grant, Esq., General James M. Varnum, and others in this way opened their homes to the board.

From 1892 to 1895, the business office of the Society was with the Secretary, Mr. Pell, at Nos. 4 and 6 Warren Street, New York.

On December 19th, 1895, the Society moved into the first office of its own, Room No. 111, 37 Liberty Street, New York. This room was meant for the convenience of the members and the Council did not meet there more than a few times. A second move was made on April 5th, 1897, when Room 62, 45 William Street, was occupied, and these quarters were held until May 1st, 1914, when the present suite of three rooms at 43 Cedar Street was leased.

The Society of Colonial Wars was founded in the office of COLONEL T. He was the Secretary of this preliminary body, the Secretary of the first Committee on Membership, and a member of the first Council. He was also a founder (1896) and the first Secretary of the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of Colorado. His eligibility to the Society was based upon his descent from Captain James Draper of Dedham, Massachusetts, who served in King Philip's War, and from eight other Colonial warriors.

He was born on March 12, 1855, in New York City, and died there on November 8, 1915. His parents were Colonel Theodore Sedgwick and Elizabeth (Morgan) Draper. At Munich he belonged to the Corps Vitruvia and at Freiberg to the Corps Montania, and was imprisoned for duelling for one month.

Upon his return to America in 1876 he was made first assistant in charge of the United States Government Mineralogical and Geological exhibits at the Centennial Exposition. Late in 1876 he went to Colorado, where he remained in the active practice of his profession until 1881. He returned to New York to live there until 1896, when he went back to Colorado. While in New York he was Captain of Company "B," Seventy-first Infantry. He later became Colonel of the First Colorado Infantry and Colonel and Division Engineer Officer of the National Guard of California. He saw active service in a Ute Indian outbreak and a South American revolution. During the War with Spain he was a Captain of the Second Regiment of United States Volunteer Engineers (June 7, 1898-May 16, 1899) on active duty at Havana and in the Hawaiian Islands. He received the thanks of the Legislature of Colorado for his war services.

For many years Mr. Willard was a cotton commission merchant but much of the later part of his life was devoted to work on genealogical and historical subjects. Besides his membership in the Society of Colonial Wars, he belonged to the Society of Mayflower Descendants, Sons of the Revolution, Order of Descendants of Colonial Governors, New York State Historical Association, Society for the Preservation of New England Antiquities, and the Long Island, Connecticut, and Newport Historical Societies. Daniel Giraud Elliot

NEW YORK, 285.

GENERAL, 285.

DR. DANIEL GIRAUD ELLIOT died at his home in New York City in his eighty-first year, on December 22, 1915. He had been a member of the Society since June 12, 1893, when he was elected as a descendant of Henry Elliot, a soldier in King Philip's War. He had also recorded his descent from Governor Thomas Welles, Richard Treat, William Goodrich and three other ancestors with Colonial service.

Dr. Elliot was the son of George Thompson and Rebecca Giraud (Foster) Elliot, and was born in New York City on March 7, 1835. He received an academic education and then specialized in zoölogy. He became preëminent as an ornithologist and mammalogist, was given the degree of Doctor of Science by Columbia University in 1906, was ten times decorated by foreign governments, and received many other honors. To him and to one other go most of the credit for founding the American Museum of Natural History in 1868 and 1869. Professor Albert S. Bickmore conceived the idea of the museum, and a group of powerful and public spirited citizens brought about its successful fruition, but Dr. Elliot was the best-equipped scientist and the only authority on natural history in the City of New York. His personal collection of birds was the first material of the kind the museum owned and his later gifts and purchases on behalf of the Trustees were exceedingly important. He went abroad for the Museum as early as 1869 and made frequent other trips. He bought the Verreaux and Prince Maximilian collections, among others, and practically all his private collections and his scientific library went sooner or later to the Museum, of which he was a Trustee and staff member up to the time of his death.

Dr. Elliot throughout his life was a great traveller. As a boy he went to the West Indian Islands and in 1857 to South America, afterwards to Sicily, Egypt, Palestine and Asia Minor. From 1869 on for ten years he made his home in Europe. Late in life he made two zoölogical expeditions to Alaska. In 1894 he went to Chicago as head of the department of zoölogy of the Field Museum of Natural History and for the Museum went to Africa in 1896 and later to the Olympic Mountains, hitherto unpenetrated by scientists. While writing his "Review of the Primates," a work in three volumes, he made in 1906 a trip around the world, lasting a year and a half, while he made comparative studies of monkeys.

To Dr. Elliot's credit were over seventeen books and hundreds of scientific articles. Among his more important productions are "North American Shore Birds," "Wild Fowl of the United States and British Possessions," "New and Heretofore Unfigured Species of Birds of North America," and "Land and Sea Mammals of America and the West Indies."

He belonged to the Royal Society of Edinburgh, the Century Association of New York, and many scientific organizations.

He married Miss Ann Eliza Henderson, who died before him, leaving one daughter, Miss Margaret Henderson Elliot.

Mr. Price was a graduate of the College of the City of New York and was a broker and later a real estate manager, but had been retired for thirty years when his death came. During the Civil War he served as Captain of Company "B," Twelfth Infantry, N. G. N. Y.

PUBLICATIONS OF THE SOCIETY OF COLONIAL WARS IN THE STATE OF NEW YORK

The first publication of the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of New York seems to have been the Register published under date of January, 1893. This contained the Constitution and By-Laws, the addresses delivered at the Dinner on December 19th, 1892, by Frederic J. de Peyster, Esq., Hon. Charles H. Murray, and Nathan G. Pond, Esq., and a list of members with a record of the services of their ancestors. Most of the later publications of both the New York and General Societies took pattern after this 1893 book, not only in size but in the adoption of the Society's colors for the cover.

In the year 1895 the Society issued a paper-covered pamphlet of thirty pages, giving only the Constitution and By-Laws.

This was followed in 1896 by a paper-covered book entitled "Extracts from the Journal of the Rev. John Graham, Chaplain of the First Connecticut Regiment, Colonel Lyman, Havana Expedition, 1762"; later known as Historical Publication Number 1.

Under date of April, 1897, there was published a pocket-size paper-bound Year Book, with lists of officers, committees and members, and giving the Constitution and By-Laws. It also gave the General Officers, the Secretaries and Treasurers of the State Societies, the membership totals of the various State organizations, departures from the general rules of eligibility which had been made by the different State Societies, and a list of the events commemorated by the meeting of the General Court of the State Societies.

In April, 1897, there also appeared "An Account of the Battle of Lake George, Compiled by the Committee on Historical Documents and the Lake George Memorial Committee of the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of New York." This was a large-paper edition, and contained an illustration of the proposed Lake George Memorial and two maps, showing the first and second engagements. This pamphlet was issued primarily as an appeal to the members for support of the project to erect the monument.

In August, 1898, the New York Society brought out a "Supplement to the Register of 1897-1898." This was a list of the members elected to the Society in New York since the Register had been issued by the General Society. There were only eleven pages of names and the pages were identical in size and appearance with those of the Register, so the Supplement could be fastened inside the covers of the larger book. Except when the services of an ancestor did not appear in the Register they were not given and reference was made to the main index.

As of March 1st, 1899, there came out a pocket-size Year Book for 1898-1899, containing, except for the changes in the lists of officers and members, practically the same material as the book of similar form dated April, 1897.

Appearing as Historical Paper Number 2, 1899, was "The Year 1619 in the Colony of Virginia," an address delivered by Howard R. Bayne, Esq., before the Society on December 20th, 1897.

Without date, but called Publication Number 3, came "A Copy of Original Massachusetts Muster Rolls, the Property of the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of New York," eight pages in a small-paper edition.

Historical Paper Number 4, 1899, was an address on "The Second Capture of Louisbourg," by Frederic H. Betts, Esq., read before the Society on March 20th, 1899. This had one illustration, a portrait of Admiral Boscawen.

It was also in 1899 that there was published a "Register of Members of the Society of Colonial Wars who served in the Army or Navy of the United States during the Spanish-American War, and Record of the Patriotic Work done by the Society." This was in fact issued by the General Society, but has been put in the list of New York publications as Number 5. This book contained a list, by States, of the veteran members with notes of their rank and service, and photographs of the three officers who were killed in action. One page of addenda was later printed separately for these War Records.

Publication Number 6, 1902, consisted of "Addresses Delivered at the Tenth Annual Banquet of the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of New York." Lists of the officers and of the members and guests present at the dinner were included, together with a copy of the menu and a cut showing the loving cup presented to Governor General de Peyster.

Under date of June 15, 1903, was published the "Year Book for 1903," similar in form to those for 1896-1897 and 1898-1899.

Also in 1903, the Society issued again the article on the "Battle of Lake George," first published in 1897. This time the name of the author was given as Morris Patterson Ferris, Esq. A new picture of the completed monument was used as a frontispiece, illustrating the changes made in the figures from the earlier sketch. This is known now as Publication Number 8.

In 1904 came Historical Paper Number 7, "A Rebellion in the Colony of Virginia," by Howard R. Bayne, Esq., read before the Society on November 21, 1904.

In June, 1904, there were printed together as one paper-covered book "Daniel Claus' Narrative of His Relations with Sir William Johnson and Experiences in the Lake George Fight," the "Report of the Lake George Memorial Executive Committee," and "Native Troops in Our Colonial Possessions," a paper read before the Society on March 21st, 1904, by Major Louis Livingston Seaman, M.D. Later, these three articles were numbered as Publications 9, 10 and 11.

A Year Book was distributed in 1905, with chronicle, lists of officers and members, necrology, Constitution, By-Laws, information for candidates, and the names of the officers of the General Society. This is now called Publication Number 12.

Publication Number 13 was "Addresses Delivered Before the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of New York and Year Book for 1906-1907," issued as of September, 1907. The papers included were six in number, as follows: "The Pequot War" by Robert D. Benedict, Esq.; "Ticonderoga and Crown Point" by William G. Davies, Esq.; "Colonial Ideals of New England" by Dermot W. Keegan, Esq.; "The Great Swamp Fight" by Hamilton B. Tompkins, Esq.; "Why We Are What We Are" by Prof. James H. Canfield; and "The Settlement of Jamestown, 1607," by Howard R. Bayne, Esq. The Year Book section contained lists of State and General Society officers, committees, former officers, deceased members, the Constitution and By-Laws, a chronicle, and information for applicants. The book was bound in cloth, with the use of red and white customary from the first.

"Addresses Delivered before the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of New York and Year Book for 1908-1909" appeared in July, 1909, as Publication Number 14. There were two addresses: "The Colonial Prologue to the Drama of the Revolution" by Francis Howard Williams, Esq., and "Henry Hudson, A Sketch of His Career" by Dr. Marcus Benjamin; and the other material observed the same divisions as in the 1906-1907 volume. A small edition of the year book proper, without the lectures, was issued in paper covers.

Bearing no serial number, but now known as 15, was the "Orderly Book and Journal of Major John Hawks on the Ticonderoga-Crown Point Campaign, under General Jeffrey Amherst, 1759-1760, with a Preface by Rev. George B. Spalding, D.D., and an Introduction by Hon. Hugh Hastings. This was distributed to the members in 1911. The book was uniform in size and binding with the 1906-1907 and 1908-1909 annuals.

Publication Number 16 was "Addresses Delivered Before the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of New York and Year Book for 1911-1912," issued under date of November, 1912. Two sermons and three addresses were printed, together with the usual Year Book data. As a frontispiece was an illustration of the tablet placed by the Society at Crown Point, New York. The papers in this book were at the same time issued separately in a paper-covered form for the use of the authors, who were presented with practically the entire editions. The addresses were numbered then as follows: Publication Number 17, "The Ends of the Earth" by Rev. Howard Duffield, D.D.; Number 18, "The Nation Builders" by Rev. Howard Duffield, D.D.; Number 19, "The Great Virginia Rebellion of 1676" by Prof. Robert M. McElroy; Number 20, "Thomas Dudley, 1576-1653, Governor of Massachusetts Bay Colony" by George Ellsworth Koues, Esq.; and Number 21,

"The Passing of New Amsterdam" by Prof. William Robert Shepherd.

The next publication was Number 22, the Year Book for 1913-1914. A brief history of the Society and a bibliography of both the New York and General Societies appeared for the first time. There was a complete revision of the chronicle and the practice was first adopted of printing the names of the three classes of members in one list.

The Year Book for 1914-1915 bore the serial number 23. It contained the material found in the Year Book immediately preceding it, with some amplifications, and also three addresses and one sermon. It was illustrated with portraits of Mr. Howland Pell and the late Clarence Storm, with the book-plate of the Society, and two boundary maps. The addresses and sermon were later issued separately, chiefly for presentation to the authors, and carry the following numbers: Number 24, "The Tolerant Spirit of the American Colonists" by Rev. Howard Duffield, D.D.; Number 25, "Notes on Colonial Boundaries" by Thatcher T. P. Luquer; Number 26, "Colonial Wars and Constitutional Development in New York" by Prof. Charles W. Spencer of Princeton University; and Number 27, "The Turning of Hearts" by Rev. Howard C. Robbins.

PUBLICATIONS OF THE GENERAL SOCIETY OF COLONIAL WARS

The first Register of the General Society of Colonial Wars was published in New York City in 1894. It contained, besides the Constitution of the General Society, brief histories of the State Societies of New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Massachusetts, Connecticut and the District of Columbia, with a list of their members and a record of the ancestors under whom they qualified. The book closed with the report of the Committee on Historical Documents of the Society in the State of New York "On the Part that the Colonies Took in the Expeditions against the Spanish, 1740-1742." It was illustrated with plates of the seal, diploma, insignia, the New York Society's punch-bowl, and a picture of Washington as an officer of the Virginia Colonial forces.

BIBLIOGRAPHY

It was then the intention to issue Registers annually, and the second publication appeared under date of January, 1895. There were six more State Societies included than in 1894; New Jersey, Virginia, New Hampshire, Vermont, Illinois, and Missouri. To avoid repetition the services of ancestors appeared now only in the general index. A report of the Committee on the Louisbourg Memorial was included, together with rosters of the officers of the Louisbourg expedition and of "the first American Army," that organized for the Narragansett Campaign. The book had many illustrations, among them one of the Society's flag in the original colors.

As of January, 1896, appeared the third "Annual Register," a book of about 500 pages, including, besides the twelve State Societies of a year before, the new organizations in Ohio, Nebraska, Minnesota, Kentucky, and California. The final report of the Committee on the Louisbourg Memorial was printed in full, with map and photographs.

The next Register bore the dates 1897-1898, and was issued in the summer of 1898. It was the last compiled by Howland Pell, Esq., who, as Secretary General, had also prepared the three previous Registers. The Societies in Colorado, Iowa, Georgia, Michigan, Wisconsin, Delaware and Rhode Island appeared now for the first time.

Not until 1902 was another book distributed. Then there was published the "General Register for 1899-1902," a volume of some 800 pages, issued by Walter Lisenard Suydam, Esq., Secretary General, assisted by Francis F. Spies, Esq., and Samuel V. Hoffman, Esq., all members of the New York State Society. The records to date of twenty-six State organizations were included.

Following a new policy, there was issued in July, 1906, "A Supplement to the General Register." This book bore the dates 1903-1906, and contained only the records relating to that period. The records used in the 1899-1902 General Register were not duplicated in any way. The Supplement was printed in Boston under the direction of Rev. Charles L. Hutchins, D.D., of the Massachusetts Society, with whom were associated Arthur J. C. Sowdon, Esq., of the Massachusetts Society, and Robert Noble, Esq., of the Vermont Society.

BIBLIOGRAPHY

A "Second Supplement to the General Register" appeared as of 1907-1911, giving only the names of those who had joined the Society or filed supplemental lines since the First Supplement came out, together with the accompanying genealogical data, and a list of all the members of the General Society. The compiler and editor was Clarence Storm, Esq., Secretary General.

In addition to the Registers the General Society has issued two pamphlets, both paper-covered; one published in 1893, giving the Constitution of the General Society with a list of the General Officers and the Delegates to the First General Assembly, May 9th and 10th, 1893; the other, printed in 1895, having a list of General Officers, State Secretaries and Treasurers, and also the By-Laws of the General Society.

In 1896 the Society issued in cloth the "Report of the Committee on the Louisbourg Memorial," with five illustrations.

The General Society was also responsible for the publication of the Spanish-American War Records of the Society, which have been described in the list of books issued by the New York State Society.

Work is now well under way for the publication of another General Register and Index of Ancestors.

GENERAL INFORMATION FOR MEMBERS AND CANDIDATES

QUALIFICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP

Any male person above the age of twenty-one years, of good moral character and reputation, shall be eligible to membership in the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of New York, if lineally descended in the male or female line from an ancestor:

(1) Who served as a military or naval officer, or as a soldier, sailor or marine, or as a privateersman, under authority of the Colonies which afterward formed the United States, or in the forces of Great Britain which participated with those of the said Colonies in any wars, in which the said Colonies were engaged, or in which they enrolled men, from the settlement of Jamestown, May 13, 1607, to the battle of Lexington, April 19, 1775; or,

(2) Who held office in any of the Colonies between the dates above mentioned, either as

(a) Director General, Vice-Director General, or member of the Council, in the Colony of New Netherland;

(b) Governor, Lieutenant or Deputy Governor, Lord Proprietor, member of the King's or Governor's Council, in the Colonies of New York, New Jersey, Virginia, Pennsylvania, and Delaware;

(c) Lord Proprietor, Governor, Deputy Governor, or a member of the Council, in Maryland, and the Carolinas;

(d) Governor, Deputy Governor, Governor's Assistant or Commissioner to the United Colonies of New England, or body of Assistants in any of the New England Colonies.

Legislative service, except as above stated, no longer constitutes eligibility. In all cases of military service the ancestor must be shown to have actually taken part in some engagement or campaign, or in some other way performed active duty as a soldier or sailor. Mere enrollment in the militia, such as membership in a train band, is no longer acceptable. Descent from the "Twelve Men," "Eight Men" and "Nine Men" of New Amsterdam shall no longer constitute eligibility.

Claims based upon service in the so-called military companies of the various townships of Plymouth Colony, under date of August, 1643, as found in the General Court Records, Vol. VIII., pp. 187-292, in Pierce's "Colonial List," etc., will not be accepted, inasmuch as they are only "The Names of all Males that are able to beare Arms from xvi. to 60 years, within the severall townships," and, as such, do not represent rosters of military companies, but merely lists of able-bodied men likely to be drawn upon in case of necessity.

Allegations of fact based upon tradition cannot be considered. Mere titles of rank in town, church, probate or registry records, and on gravestones cannot be accepted.

The only exceptions to the requirements as stated are in cases where the ancestor has already been accepted by the Society in this State. Reference to the Society's Registers should be made in such circumstances.

RULES AND REGULATIONS FOR THE PREPARATION OF APPLICATION PAPERS

The first step in making application for membership is to apply to the Secretary for a preliminary blank. This paper calls for the name, occupation and residence of the candidate, and the names of two members of the Society to whom he refers by permission. It further asks for a brief statement of the record of the ancestor under whom he desires to qualify. The preliminary paper should be returned to the Secretary when completed. Upon its approval by some member of the Council the final application blanks are issued to the candidate. These must be filled out to show the line of descent, giving for each generation the names of both parents, with the dates and places of their births, deaths, and marriage; whenever such information can possibly be secured.

The application must contain paged reference to recognized printed authority, authenticating the descent, service or rank, or when proof depends upon encyclopedias, town or other histories, and genealogies, they will be accepted, as furnishing sufficient proof of service, only when original authorities, documentary or of equivalent value, are quoted in them. Proof of service, or descent, based upon papers owned by private individuals or upon such public records as are not easily accessible, should be substantiated by copies of the same in duplicate, such copies being duly authenticated. A reference is required for each generation in the descent down to the grandparents of the candidate.

The final application must be signed and acknowledged before a notary and must bear the signatures of two members of the Society as Proposer and Secunder. Neither Proposer nor Secunder may be an Officer, Gentleman of the Council, Local Secretary or member of the Committee on Membership.

When the candidate resides in the northern or western part of the State, the preliminary application must be sent to the nearest Local Secretary for his approval. The Local Secretary will then forward the paper to the proper officers, and, with the application, a letter stating his approval of the same, such approval being based in all cases on personal knowledge of the applicant.

The final application must be made in exact duplicate, as one copy goes to the office of the Registrar General.

Upon the return of the application it is submitted to the Genealogist for examination and upon his approval it is presented to the Committee on Membership.

The rules of the Committee on Membership require that the Proposer and Secunder send letters to the Committee endorsing their candidate. Such letters must state significant details of the candidate's life and business, his college and other education, his club and patriotic society affiliations, the writer's personal acquaintance with him, and specifically endorse him for membership. It is also necessary that candidates residing in the City of New York and vicinity be personally known to one of the Membership Committee. If not already acquainted with one of the Committee, the Proposer or Secunder should arrange an introduction.

Residents of other States where organized Societies exist will not be admitted in this State except upon written consent given in advance by the Council of the Society in their own State. There are Societies organized in the States of California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Vermont, Virginia, Washington, Wisconsin and the District of Columbia. The names and addresses of the various State Secretaries may be obtained from John Lenord Merrill, Secretary General, 43 Cedar Street, New York.

The election of candidates for membership in the Society in New York rests with the Council, which meets on the last Thursday of every month from October through May. The Committee on Membership meets on the second Tuesday preceding the Council meeting, and any application to be considered at a meeting should be in the hands of the Committee at least ten days before the meeting.

A candidate may not enter the Society upon more than one ancestor. After his election the Society welcomes supplemental claims, and separate blanks for this purpose may be secured from the Secretary. The same detailed genealogy and record of services are required as in the original application and the papers must likewise be in duplicate.

Two or more ancestors may be submitted upon one supplemental blank provided the filing and examination charges of $1.00 are paid for each ancestor. In such cases if either ancestor is rejected the application will have to be rewritten so as to show only the services of the accepted ancestor.

The membership of this Society is limited to 1,000, exclusive of sons of active members, members of other State Societies who may be transferred to New York, and members of the Army, Navy, and Marine Corps on active service.

The Society holds its General Court on December 19th and Business Courts on the second Thursday in November and the third Monday in March. The Annual Dinner takes place on the third Tuesday in November.
